

Your Blade's New Best Friend

Your blade may think it needs a vacation.
But what it really needs is the 823 from Slesher.

Let's face it. Your blade has had a hard week.

Logging is a tough job for any blade, even the best, which is what you use. Quite frankly, though, your blade doesn't look as good as it did on Monday. And you know what that means. That means your blade won't function the way it's designed to. Right now, what your blade needs is some professional help from someone you can trust.

Allow us to introduce your blade's best friend: the 823 from Slesher. The 823 is designed to restore your blade to its original effectiveness. In just a few automatic revolutions, it accomplishes two things: it levels your blade, so it can cut cleanly, every time. And it adjusts the tension—electronically. To the tolerance you specify. And best of all, because it does this electronically, it's a heck of a lot quieter. Which is always nice.

Call Slesher today.

Because your blade
needs help right now—from the 823.
